

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A camera having a main body housing and a display housing. The display housing of a display unit is rotatively supported by a shaft of the camera
5 to be movably remote from or near to the main body housing, and is capable of changing the direction of an image display plane. The disk driving mechanism and a circuit board having a control circuit for an image pickup device are disposed in different
10 housings.